THE

American Catalogue

1895–1900

Author-and-Title Alphabet; Part II: K–Z.

THE new volume of the American Catalogue covers books recorded from July 1, 1895, to January 1, 1900, including books with the imprint 1900 issued within 1899, and also books of 1899 recorded after January 1, 1900. The work will be completed with Subject Alphabet, Part III, in the first part of 1901. The first alphabet contains 550 pages, as compared with 498 pages in the 1890–1895 volume, and the subject alphabet will contain approximately 275 pages as compared with 251 pages. Appendixes for Government Publications, State Publications, and Publications of Societies, now otherwise provided for, will not be given in this volume.

The edition, as before, is limited, so that orders should be placed promptly in advance. The price to advance subscribers will be, as heretofore, $10 in sheets or $12.50 in half morocco, to be raised after publication to $12.50 in sheets and $15 in half morocco. Subscribers should designate whether they wish the work forwarded in parts or delivered complete. The fact that most of the previous volumes are out of print and selling at extra price suggests the value of investment in this completing volume of the present series.

THE HOSPITAL SATURDAY AND SUNDAY ASSOCIATION again claims the attention of the trades. This annual collection has been the means of greatly enlarging the free hospital service in New York and other large cities; yet it is still far below what it ought to be to meet the needs of so large a city as New York with its heterogeneous population. The book trade for years has stood remarkably well among the contributing trades, and this year the amount contributed should not only be maintained, but raised quite up to the $1000 mark if not beyond. Contributions may be sent directly to the treasurer, Charles Lanier, 17 Nassau Street, New York.

NOTES IN SEASON.

JULIUS GROOS of Heidelberg, the publisher of the famous "Method Gaspey-Otto-Sauer" for the study of modern languages, has just published "James Connor," a conversation book in French, German and English for the use of schools and travellers.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO. have in preparation an illustrated edition of "Bob, Son of Battle," which is now selling near its thirtieth thousand. The illustrations will be made by A. Radclyffe Dugmore, who has gone to the north of England to make sketches of the scenes in which the story is laid.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish in February "The Love-Letters of Victor Hugo," being the letters written by the great Frenchman to his fiancée, Mlle Adèle Foucher, from 1820 to 1822; "The Love-Letters of Bismarck," the letters which Bismarck wrote to his fiancée and wife, Fräulein Puttkamer, which reveal in a most interesting and intimate manner the extraordinary personality of this remarkable man; "Labor," by Emile Zola, a powerful narrative dealing with factory life in France, and the conflict between labor and capital; "A New Way Around an Old World," by Rev. Francis E. Clark, D.D., President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, a fascinating account, thoroughly illustrated from photographs, of the new route over the Trans-Siberian railway; also "Life of the Emperor Frederick," edited from the German of Margaretha Von Poschinger, with an introduction by Sidney Whitman, an authoritative and sympathetic life of Frederick III., father of the present Emperor of Germany. They will publish shortly a new edition of Laurence Hutton's "A Boy I Knew and Four Dogs" under the title of "A Boy I Knew, Four Dogs, and Some More Dogs," which will contain much new matter.

R. H. RUSSELL will issue in the first week in January a work by Captain A. T. Mahan, U. S. A., the author of "The Influence of Sea Power on History," etc., entitled "The War in South Africa," with an introduction by Sir John Bourinot, clerk of the Canadian House of Commons and ex-President of the Royal Society of Canada. This work treats the subject from a strategical point of view, and in the calm unprejudiced light which dignifies all of Captain Mahan's military writings. It is elaborately illustrated with 473 illustrations, including 18 full pages in color, and 34 full pages in black and white, by Remington, de Thulstrup, Reuterdahl, Hering, Wenzell, Klepper, Stevens and Methfessel. There are also reproductions of hundreds of photographs taken upon the scene, illustrating most of the important movements of the war. With the beginning of the year R. H. Russell will also issue a large and unique Bernhardt souvenir. This will be a departure from the usual run of the Russell souvenirs in that it will contain ninety-six pages, with a historical and critical sketch of Madame Bernhardt with an autograph introduction by herself. There will be sixty-five pictures showing the famous actress in all her important rôles, and in her home.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—L. C. Page & Company will remove next month to the New England Building, at 200 Summer Street, where they will have considerably more space in which to conduct a growing business.

GREAT BEND, PA.—Daniel Leary has opened up a book, stationery and cigar store in the Kistler block.

HARVARD, ILL.—H. W. Blodgett has moved his book and stationery and glassware store to the Mason Building.

HOT SPRINGS, ARK.—The A. C. Weaver Company has been incorporated to conduct a book and stationery store. Capital $7000. C. H. Weaver, president; E. Weaver, secretary: and L. J. Hunt, vice-president.

IRONTON, O.—The Ironton Book and Stationery Company formally opened their store on November 30.

JAMAICA PLAIN, MASS.—Mrs. M. E. Hill has moved her periodical and stationery store into the Sammet Block.

LAWRENCE, KAN.—The University Book Store has been damaged by fire to the extent of $12,000.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—A meeting of the creditors of Charles D. Raymer, who was adjudged bankrupt on the 14th inst., will be held December 27 in the Federal Building, before Q. C. Merriam, referee, at 10 A. M., when claims must be proved and a trustee appointed.

NEW YORK CITY.—Upon the application of the American Press Association Judge Leaventritt, of the New York Supreme Court, has appointed Monte Hutzler receiver of the Consolidated Telegraph and News Company, of which M. F. Germond, of 45 Park Place, is secretary, on a judgment for $3799 obtained on November 26 and which had been returned unsatisfied. Orlando J. Smith, president of the American Press Association, in a statement to the court, said that the company owed a large amount which it is unable to pay, has defaulted in payment of interest and principal of its bonds, and as there are other judgments against it, if a receiver was not appointed there was danger that some of the creditors might obtain a preference. The company was incorporated in March, 1895, with a capital stock of $600,000 and a bond issue of $100,000, and sold out to another company in June, 1896.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Baker & Taylor Co. have leased the first loft of the building at 33 to 37 East Seventeenth Street, on the north side of Union Square, which runs through to 38 to 46 Eighteenth Street, and will remove there about February 1. This change is necessitated by the growing requirements of their business, for greater and better arranged space, the large area of the Seventeenth Street building affording, on a single floor, an amount of room equal to four floors of the building the firm now occupies. The prompt despatching of orders—an important element in the jobbing business—will be greatly facilitated by the rapid handling of stock permitted by this concentration on one floor. Another important consideration is the abundant space afforded by the new quarters for displaying goods. This building to which the removal will be made is already known to the book trade from its continued occupancy by the Century Company.

NEW YORK CITY.—John B. Pratt, who has been connected with the firm of A. S. Barnes & Co. since he first entered its employ as a boy, will receive an interest in the business, beginning January 1, with authority to represent the firm in all its departments.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—A. K. Fowler, bookseller and stationer, has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors. A. S. Fraser has been appointed assignee.

SACO, ME.—The Sibley & Ducker Company has been incorporated with a capital of $10,000; $300 paid in.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

DECEMBER 29, 1900.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."*—LORD BACON.

THE PASSING OF THE CENTURY.

THE passing of an old century, or the beginning of a new one, is equally conducive to retrospect. At the close of any long period of years the mind is irresistibly moved to take account of the record of the past, and to sum up its profits and losses, regardless of the hopelessness of striking a balance.

However much our ancestors may have been stirred by the achievements of a passing century, not one, or all together, we venture to say, have been witness, since the Christian era, to so many important, not to say decisive, events as may be put to the credit of the nineteenth century.

Hailed at its dawn by the thunders of war that reverberated from the north coast of Africa to the shores of Denmark, with the powers allied against the "upstart Napoleon," and lulled to sleep by the rumbling of war that rolls along the south coast of Africa, and from the Philippine Islands to China, where the great powers of modern civilization again stand allied, and now against a great power representative of the most ancient civilization, the nineteenth century has indeed had its full share of "the havoc of war and the battle's confusion." The inheritor of the moral issues raised at the close of the eighteenth century, the new century unflinchingly accepted the burden and conscientiously proved true to the trust imposed upon it. It not only triumphantly solved the old problems but also those that grew out of them, shunning no sacrifice in order that men might be free. Serfdom is a tradition, and the clanking of the chains of the slave barely a memory. Before the law all men are equal throughout the civilized world; that man may become so in fact, sets a task which the twentieth century may accomplish.

Great as have been the political achievements of the nineteenth century, its victories in the fields of science and in the gentler arts have been no less renowned. The mastery of electricity, which enables man to "enter upon his first real sovereignty of nature," is an achievement that alone would stamp the nineteenth century as the greatest among those since the fire age. In the development of machinery and mechanical appliances the dying century stands unparalleled among its predecessors, if it had no more to its credit than the steamboat and locomotive, the power press and typesetting machine, the sewing machine, the telegraph and telephone, and the camera. In research and discovery the century likewise has made giant strides.

In literature, the Victorian Age in England approaches more nearly in its literary quality the golden Elizabethan Age than any century since that reign. In Germany and in France there flourished a host of writers whose work has given to the literature of those countries in the nineteenth century a position equal to if not beyond anything they had attained before. In our own country, literature had its real beginning in the century now ended; and while it may be still too early to pass sober judgment on the work as a whole, it is safe to assert that the country has brought forth enough poetry, essays, histories and philosophies of an imperishable quality to add enduring lustre to the nineteenth century.

When we turn from the general to the particular, and consider the development of the trade which it has been the honor of this journal and its predecessors to serve for just half a century, we confess we are amazed at the progress made in certain directions. One hundred years ago the total number of books in circulation in this country amounted to less than fourteen hundred separate works, mostly of foreign origin, published by less than fifty booksellers or printers. In the year just closed upwards of seven thousand separate works, chiefly by American writers, have been published by nearly six hundred publishers. In the year 1813, Mathew Carey, then president of the Philadelphia Company of Booksellers, issued a circular in which he warned the trade against the folly of printing so large an edition as 4000 copies of any book. During the last year of the century more than one of the six best-selling books has required an edition fifty times greater than an edition considered extravagantly large a century ago. Nor are these large editions a feature of the closing years only of the nineteenth century. Going back as far as the early fifties, when "Uncle Tom's Cabin" made a record for itself, the names of at least forty other books that sold beyond the 100,000 mark may be recalled without effort. In this connection we notice also the phenomenal growth and development of the newspaper and periodical press throughout the world, with its facilities for gathering news, and producing and distributing its printed product multiplied a hundred fold.

With the growth of publishing, the distributing machinery of the trade has unfortunately not kept pace. The reasons for this are so many and so complex that the way out has always been beset with difficulties not easily overcome. From the time when, in 1801, the first association of booksellers was formed for the protection of the trade, until the present, there has been no lack of disinterested men ready to serve their fellow booksellers—counting no sacrifice too great if by their humble efforts the cause might prosper. But always there was distrust, ignorance, and inability to grasp golden opportunities at the right moment, which hindered the good work planned, and complicated the perplexities until even the steadfast lost heart, and dropped out of the ranks or continued the work despondingly until younger heads and stouter hearts should take upon themselves the task of bringing order out of chaos. But now, after long hours of darkness, the clouds are lifting and the horizon is tinged with signs of a promise of reform. The trade is watching the signs with expectant eyes. May the promises be realized and result in practical measures that will bring present relief and ultimate release from the conditions that are stultifying the growth of the book-trade, and enable it to spread throughout the length and breadth of the land so that it may carry into every hamlet the tidings which a new century of authors may have to give to a new century of readers.

A TESTIMONIAL TO W. W. WYMAN, OF THOS. Y. CROWELL & CO.

On Friday afternoon, the 22d inst., Mr. Wyman, the well-known manager of Thomas Y. Crowell & Co.'s publishing business, was invited by the senior member of that firm to step with him into the "sample room." On entering the room Mr. Weyman was surprised at the presence of every member of the firm as well as of the heads of the departments. After friendly greetings on all sides, and much mystery, Mr. Thomas Y. Crowell turned to Mr. Wyman, who by this time had become quite embarrassed at the attention bestowed upon him, and addressed him as follows:

"Mr. Wyman, this is a surprise party. These young men and women have entered into a conspiracy and have chosen you as their victim. I have been delegated to unfold to you the details of the plot which is to culminate at this time and in this place.

"It is, as you may remember, Mr. Wyman, twenty-five years ago, this month, that you and I started out together, in a modest way, to see what the future had in store for us. Our list comprised but about fifty titles, all of them Sunday-school books. Our bank account was rather limited, and our assets consisted largely of enthusiasm and great expectations. We did not accomplish all we expected to do, and we found part of the road rough travelling indeed; but I may safely say that our enthusiasm has never given out, and that our faith in the future continues as bright and unabated as it was twenty-five years ago.

"It is a rather remarkable thing to say, nevertheless it is true, that during this long period there have been neither misunderstandings nor quarrels between us—everything has been frank, open, friendly and harmonious. Differences of opinion as to certain methods and other details, as was natural, occurred now and then; but never was there any bitterness or resentment shown whichever way the decision went.

"I may say, moreover, that during this period, with much responsibility placed upon you, there has never been a moment's anxiety on the part of the firm as to your integrity. Many other men in similar positions proved unworthy of their trust; but the firm of T. Y. Crowell & Co. have always felt that in William W. Wyman they could place the utmost confidence, so that when panics came and men proved faithless not one hour's sleep was lost in fear, or anxiety lest our confidence should prove misplaced.

"We also remember that the same unvarying courtesy which you have shown in your dealings with our firm you have also accorded to the members of the trade who have had dealings with our house.

"But I must not make this occasion too embarrassing to you. Suffice it to say that after such long and faithful service it is fitting and appropriate that we should recognize the event of this twenty-fifth anniversary of your connection with our firm, by giving you some visible token of our appreciation and esteem."

At the close of Mr. Crowell's remarks the following handsomely-engrossed and bound testimonial was presented to Mr. Wyman:

1875-1900.

UNDERSIGNED

on the occasion of his completing TWENTY-FIVE YEARS of continuous and faithful service with the firm of Thomas Y. Crowell and Company, desire to express by this TESTIMONIAL and the GIFT which accompanies it our hearty congratulations and appreciation of the unvarying courtesy, ability and Christian traits of character which have made this long term memorable, and our warmest wishes for the future.

NEW YORK, December, 1900.

E. Osborne Crowell,	Frances E. MacKenna,
T. Irving Crowell,	Anna A. Murrell,
J. Osborne Crowell,	James A. Bernard,
L. Howes Crowell,	Charles H. May,
William R. Spinney,	Fred G. Stevens,
John H. Hopkins,	Ruth Supple,
George R. Hobby,	Marie E. Brigham,
Abram H. Meserole,	Charles H. Cooper.

The firm's personal gift to Mr. Wyman was a purse of gold. Mr. Wyman, who was quite overcome by the demonstration, replied briefly and thanked all most warmly.

Mr. Weyman, who is loved by all who come into contact with him for his warm-hearted, friendly disposition—ever encouraging the dispirited, and helping on the young and inexperienced with practical advice—entered the book business as a boy in the employ of the New England branch of the American Tract Society in Boston. Early in the seventies he came to New York and became junior member of the firm of Warren & Wyman at 744 Broadway. In December, 1875, Thomas Y. Crowell, who five years before had come into possession of Benjamin Bradley's bookbindery in Boston, took over the publishing business of Warren &Wyman, retaining Mr. Wyman as manager. From that small beginning has grown in this quarter century a publishing business of great importance as well as magnitude, in the building up of which, as Mr. Crowell generously admits, Mr. Wyman's work has been of inestimable service. On behalf of the trade we offer our congratulations to all concerned. May such pleasant and profitable relations continue unchanged for many years to come, and may the example encourage others to like effort to the honor of the profession.

TO MAKE PAPER IN MINNESOTA.

MINNESOTA, according to a special despatch to the New York Times, will, in the near future, be the great paper-making State of the Union. A syndicate, comprising almost all of the principal paper manufacturers of the country has purchased 100,000 acres of spruce timber land in the northern portion of the State and taken an option on several thousand acres more, and will proceed to erect great pulp mills. It is said that the intention of the promoters is to make paper on such a large scale that the prices of common white paper will be cut in half.

MR. DOOLEY ON THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL NOVEL.

MR. DOOLEY, in a recent issue of Harper's Weekly, turned his attention to the American historical novel and gave its genesis as follows:

"'What's a historical novel?' Mr. Hennessy asked.

"'Marry come off,' said Mr. Dooley. 'Don't ye know? Todslones, if I had me cleaver on th' bar I wud smack thee f'r a ham-headed fluke. Idzims, I wud. Odswounds, egad, th' wench speeks th' thruth.'

"Mr. Hennessy moved cautiously away, and measured the distance to the door, but Mr. Dooley's fit was over. He smiled proudly, and resumed his ordinary speech: 'Th' historical romance is a story, Hinnissy, about something that didn't happen before ye was bor-rn. A few years ago Hogan, that does most iv me r-readin', was hurtin' his eyes over what he called reelism. That's where a modest sewin'-machine marries a rayspictable grocery store, an' they talk f'r th' r-rest iv th' book about who shall wind th' clock. Hogan says they was a revulsion again' this sort iv thing. It came with prosperity. Durin' hard times people r-read about Dinnis comin' home at night an' throwin' a plate iv warrumed-over mutton at th' wife, an' they'd exclaim, 'Great Hivens, how thrue to nature!' But whin people begun to get dividends fr'm th' busted banks, an' pay day became less jerky an' irreg'lar, they had to have a taste iv rayle rayfined life, an' th' historical novel comes in."

At considerable length Mr. Dooley epitomizes the typical historical novel of the day. The hero's principal exploit is riding Bucephalus "up Tottenham Court Road, beyon' the railroad thracks, across th' Liffey, over Parlymint, into Cinthral Park."

"'Thim things cudden't happen,' said Mr. Hennessy.

"'Annything cud happen that far back, whin they wore romantic clothes,' said Mr. Dooley."

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

THE CHICAGO MANUSCRIPT COMPANY PAYS DAMAGES.

THE prospect of several interesting trials under the copyright law of the United States circuit court disappeared on December 11, when five replevin suits against Alexander Byers of Chicago, Ill., were settled by agreement on the payment of 1 cent damages in each case. The plaintiffs were Archibald Clavering Gunter, Bronson Howard, Jacob Litt, T. Henry French and C. H. Hoyt, who began the proceedings three years ago. One of the stipulations in each case was that the defendant "should waive all claims that he may have against the plaintiffs of every nature, kind and description, from the beginning of the world down to and including this date.

Byers was a saloon-keeper at 102 Halsted Street, Chicago, and was said to represent the Chicago Manuscript Company. He secured copies of a number of plays owned by the plaintiffs and is said to have deprived the authors of royalties by selling pirated editions of the manuscript at reduced prices.

The plays were seized by United States deputy marshals on New Year's eve, 1897. Writs of replevin had been issued in the United State circuit court and with these in their possession the deputies broke into Byers' place and seized a miscellaneous lot of manuscript. It was estimated that more than 7000 manuscripts were found in boxes in the rear room of Byers' saloon.

Among the plays were "Captain Letterblair," "Shenandoah," "The Deacon's Daughter," "Mr. Potter of Texas," "Prince Karl," "The Banker's Daughter," "In Old Kentucky" and "Mr. Barnes of New York."

All these plays are now in the possession of the owners, and as no effort has been made by Byers to recover them during the last few years there was no necessity for a trial. The authors had also sued for damages, but these claims are waived as a part of the settlement.

DECISION AGAINST KIPLING.

JUDGE LACOMBE, in the United States Circuit Court on December 26, denied the motion made by Rudyard Kipling's attorneys to restrain R. F. Fenno & Co. from publishing and selling editions of his works on which an elephant's head was used. The case was argued in November and attracted a great deal of attention. The question of copyright was eliminated by the consent of both parties.

Judge Lacombe said that Mr. Kipling had not established a common law trademark, and there was no suggestion of a statutory trademark. He said that there was no apprehension that purchasers of the Elephant's Head edition might be misled by supposing that they were buying the Outward Bound or any other edition of his works.

BOOK TRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

XVth DINNER OF THE BROTHERHOOD OF COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS gave its sixteenth dinner on the evening of December 27 in Healy's Dungeon, Columbus Avenue and Sixty-sixth Street, New York. The "dungeon," notwithstanding its gruesome name, was a pleasantly comfortable place, and for about three hours its inmates had as delightful a time as they ever enjoyed since the B. C. T. came into existence. The menu was a simple affair, consisting of "Sherry, celery, ale, caviar on toast, more ale, beefsteak, Mumm's Extra Dry, birds and cigars." It sufficed to "fill an aching void," and every one of the fifty "trenchermen," arrayed in an ample apron, did justice to the feast and seemed to enjoy it. After the cigars, furnished by E. H. Gato, had been passed around, the President, A. E. Turner, greeted the Brotherhood, felicitating it upon the good work achieved during the year, and expressing the hope that in the new century the membership might be greatly augmented, and the usefulness of the organization still more increased. Brother A. D. Mac Mullen, chairman of the Souvenir Committee, then invested the outgoing president with the insignia of his office, an ivory gavel suspended from a magenta-colored watered silk band. Brother Mac Mullen in a happy speech, that was frequently applauded, referred to the many services rendered by Mr. Turner to the Brotherhood since its organization, and reminded its members of the debt it owed to Mr. Turner's efforts, in the face of many drawbacks, to keep the organization up to the high standard set by his predecessors.

Short addresses were made by Messrs. John Hovendon, W. J. Kelly, who covered himself with glory as chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, A. Growoll, J. F. T. Noonan, and John Black. Thomas Ballantyne at intervals regaled the company with amusing stories and a "coon band" furnished music. One of the surprises of the evening was the presentation of a case of White Seal champagne by the producers of that famous wine. The agent of the White Seal Company, Mr. Thomas Deering, well known to the travelling fraternity, was present and responded felicitously to a most enthusiastic call for a speech. At midnight the company broke up singing "Vive la compagnie."

OBITUARY NOTES.

JOSIAH NORRIS WING, well known in book-trade and library circles, died suddenly on December 20, after a brief illness, at his home, No. 303 East Eighteenth Street, New York. Mr. Wing was born near Lynchburg, in Prince Edward County, Va., September 29, 1848. His father, E. N. Wing, a native of Maine, was engineer of the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad, and built High Bridge, over the Appomattox River, at Farmville, Va. He was a Union man, and after the siege of Knoxville removed to New York City. Here young Wing attended the public schools and entered the College of the City of New York; but before the close of the first year he accepted a position as clerk in the Mercantile Library. He was connected with the library for thirteen years, and became first assistant librarian. Conscientious in the smallest as well as in the more important matters relating to his duties, Mr. Wing worked almost unceasingly. The result was that he suffered in health and was obliged to retire for a time from active work. In 1880 he took charge of the library business of Charles Scribner's Sons, for which his library training admirably fitted him. During the years he was engaged in the book business he kept close touch with library progress. He was almost from the beginning a member of the New York Library Club and of the American Library Association. For seven years, and up to the time of his death, he had been treasurer of the New York State Library Association. In April, 1899, he was elected chief librarian of the New York Free Circulating Library. Mr Wing, while faithful to his first love, the library, was no less loyal and devoted to the profession which he adopted, of which he was for so many years an honored member. He was one of the earlier and active members of the Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association, which he served for many years as a trustee. He was also one of the organizers of the Booksellers' League, whose members twice elected him its president since which time he has acted as its First Vice-President. Active in his professional capacity, he was no less alive to his duties as a citizen, and as a member of the Good Government Club and of the Citizens' Union took a leading part in the reform movements inaugurated by these organizations. In 1883 he married Dr. Mercy N. Baker, and from that time their home was at 303 East Eighteenth Street, the house that "Fanny Fern" owned and occupied during her last years. Mr. Wing had a large circle of acquaintances and friends among booksellers, book collectors and librarians, who will miss in him an amiable and warm friend, and an enthusiastic guide and counsellor. The funeral services were held at his home on the evening of December 21. The interment took place in Prince Edward County, Va., the home of his relatives.

ALBERT B. BRADY, secretary of the S. S. McClure Company, died on the 23d inst., in Rome, Italy. Mr. Brady had long been suffering from heart trouble, and for a year had been unable to attend to business. He went to Germany last spring for treatment and was at Rome with his family on the way to spend the winter in Egypt. Mr. Brady was born in 1862, in Wappalo, Ia. He was graduated from Knox College in the class of '82, being a classmate of S. S. McClure and John S. Phillips. The intimate association of these three friends, which began in the management of a college paper, continued, and later they joined in the founding of McClure's Magazine. After graduating Mr. Brady entered into partnership with his brother, Oscar W. Brady, in the publication of the Davenport Daily Times. In 1893 he came to New York and became secretary of the S. S. McClure Company.

WILLIAM FRANCIS SAGE, a writer of comedies, died in New York on the 24th inst. He was born in Manchester, N. H., in 1849, and as a young man went to Boston where he became a bookseller. From Boston he went to Chicago where he wrote a play founded on "A Tale of Two Cities" entitled "Destiny," which was produced at McVickar's Theatre. Besides this he wrote more than a dozen comediettas and farces. Since 1882 he has been connected with the business office of the Evangelist Publishing Company in New York. He was a brother of Abby Sage Richardson who died in Rome a short time ago.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE Historical Manuscripts Commission of the American Historical Association proposes to publish the papers of Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase, which Herbert Friedenwald is preparing for the press.

ONE of the giant peaks of the Canadian Rockies, upwards of 11,000 feet high, recently discovered by Samuel Evans S. Allen, F. R. G. S., has been named after his friend, A. J. Drexel Biddle, the Philadelphia publisher.

THE ROYAL-COLUMBIA PRESS, a new publishing concern established at 141 West Twenty-fourth Street, New York, will publish next week "The Story of Louise," translated from the French of Georges de Fontanges, by Deshler Welsh.

COOKE & FRYE have published for Charles L. Hammond, a retired officer of the United States Army, a volume entitled "About the Bible," which treats the subject from many points of view, extending from criticisms of the "King James's Bible" and of the "Revised Version" to a statement as to what the average public school student knows about the book.

THE ABBEY PRESS, New York, has just issued a second edition of "The Republic of America," by L. B. Hartman, Chaplain of the 7th Regiment, National Guard N. J.; and "City Boys in the Country, or, Weston and Howard at Bedford," by Clinton Osgood Bowling, relating actual experiences in the life of the author, who gained his knowledge of hunting, fishing and ornithology from his "big brother," to whom the book is dedicated.

THE AMERICAN BOOK COMPANY have just ready "Outlines of Roman History," by William C. Morey, intended for the use of high schools and academies; "Syntax of Classical Greek," by Basil Lanneau Gildersleeve, with the co-operation of Charles William Emil Miller, of the Johns Hopkins University, covering extracts from Homer to Demosthenes; and Paul Heyse's "Anfang und Ende," edited for school use by Max Lentz of the Paterson Military School.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & CO. announce that they have arranged with the Hon. Joseph H. Choate to issue immediately his famous address, "Abraham Lincoln," delivered on November 13 before the Edinburgh Philosophical Institution. They have also in press "Questions of Empire," by Lord Rosebery, an address delivered before the students of the University of Glasgow on November 16. Another important book soon to be issued by the Crowells is "Problems of Evolution," by F. W. Headley.

NOYES, PLATT & CO., Boston, have just published a little volume entitled "Official Illustrated Catalogue Fine Arts Exhibit, United States of America, Paris Exposition of 1900," giving diagrams of the pavilions where the exhibits were held, together with the names of the United States Commission, etc., brief biographical notes and the titles of the pictures. An index and about fifty pages of half-tone pictures illustrative of the most distinctive work exhibited in the American galleries complete the work.

"OWING to the fact that many persons have inquired whether 'Ye Wisdom of Confucius, or, Ye Mummyfyed Fynger,' by Lord Gilhooley was entirely authentic, we are obliged to say," says the New York Times Saturday Review, "that it is a literary hoax, which is good enough to be a reality, perpetrated by Frederick H. Seymour of Detroit. The book consists of an introductory story of 'Ye Mummyfyed Fynger,' followed by a large number of maxims of Confucius as interpreted by his disciple."

CAPTAIN HENRY W. HOWGATE, who in 1895 was sentenced for a term of eight years' imprisonment for defrauding the United States Government, will be liberated from the Albany County Penitentiary to-day. Howgate was first arrested in 1880, but escaped. Some years ago he came to New York, where he conducted a second-hand book business under an assumed name, until he was again arrested. Howgate, who is now over seventy years of age, will go to Washington, where he will live with his daughter.

THE Delegates of the Clarendon Press will publish, in the fall of 1901, a facsimile, by the collotype process, of the "First Folio of Shakespeare." The Chatsworth copy has been deposited on loan in the Bodleian Library for the purpose of producing an absolutely correct reproduction of the text. Sidney Lee will contribute a brief introduction, and will give as full a list as practicable of all known copies of the First Folio with biographical details. Owners of copies of the First Folio who are not already in communication with Mr. Lee are requested to communicate with him, care of the Clarendon Press, Oxford.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish at once a work entitled "The Sanity of Mind, a study of its conditions, and of the means of its development and preservation," by Dr. David F. Lincoln, author of "School and Industrial Hygiene," etc., which is intended as a "popular demonstration of certain human phenomena which are most useful to know." They will publish in January "French Life in Town and Country," by Hannah Lynch, the first of Our Neighbors' Series, a number of volumes which will treat of life in the rural districts and small town communities of France, Germany, Russia, Holland and other countries.

THE London Academy in its issue for December 8 published a letter, signed "Theta," on the subject of the inner meaning of "An Englishwoman's Love-Letters." "The only hypothesis," said this correspondent, "which fits all the circumstances of the case is that the girl's father was the father of the young man also, and to the truth of this hypothesis innumerable indications point." In reference to this letter The Academy received the following communication: "To 'Theta.' Thanks and compliments from the editor of 'An Englishwoman's Love-Letters.'" The interest in the book in England and here is growing, and many guesses are made as to the authorship. It is authoritatively stated that no guess thus far made is correct. The greatest caution was taken to protect the identity of the author. Prior to the publication the letters were shown to no one but Mr. Murray, the publisher, and the author's agreement with him was made without disclosing names. Meanwhile another book, "An Englishman's Love-Letters," is announced, which is said to fit in with the original volume, and will likewise be published anonymously.

D. APPLETON & CO. will publish next month "A History of Chinese Literature," by Herbert A. Giles, of the Cambridge University, a new volume in the Literature of the World Series. A considerable portion of the book is devoted to translations, which will enable the Chinese author, so far as translations will allow, to speak for himself. The book is interesting at this time, since it furnishes suggestions as to the modes of thought, the culture, and the manner of expression of a people who are at this moment engaging a large share of the world's interest. They have in preparation a new supplementary volume of "Appleton's Cyclopedia of American Biography," prepared under the editorship of General James Grant Wilson. The volume will cover nearly 2000 names of Americans and adopted citizens who have attained distinction in every walk of life during the past twelve years. A dozen full-page steel portraits and five general illustrations, besides several hundred vignettes executed by Gribayedoff will be given. A particular feature of the new work will be found in the complete list of pseudonyms mentioned in the other volumes.

PICK-UPS.

TRADING KIPLING CHECKS.—"The last time I was North," said a New Orleans banker to a reporter of the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "I heard a Kipling story which I don't think has ever been in print. It was told me by a gentleman who used to have a place in Vermont, not far from Kipling's old summer home, and who is at present assistant cashier in one of the big New York banks.

"He said that during the last year of Kipling's residence in Vermont he became alarmed at the growing expenses of the establishment and decided to keep a strict eye on the output. Accordingly he opened an account at a bank in a nearby town—I forget now which—and paid all the household bills with personal checks. Many of them were very small, ranging in amount from fifty cents to $5, and the shrewd Yankee storekeepers of the neighborhood soon discovered that they could get more for them from autograph fiends than they could from the paying teller. That was particularly the case when they attached a duplicate memoranda of the account. For example, a bill against Mr. Kipling for five pounds of cheese, accompanied by an autograph check for $1.25, was a souvenir that commanded a fancy price.

"The consequence was that a number of the checks never found their way to the bank, and the author was greatly perplexed. He would send in his book once a month to be balanced, and it would invariably come back showing more to his credit than was indicated by the stubs.

"Kipling was unable to account for the discrepancy and attributed it to his bad head for figures until one day, when visiting in Boston, he ran across a small check given for a case of bottled beer framed and hanging in the study of a collector. That exposed the nefarious traffic, and the creator of Mulvaney was speechless with wrath and indignation. The first thing he did when he got home was to burn his checkbook, and after that he insisted on paying all his bills in the coin of the realm."

Just out:

James Connor, Conversation-book in French, German and English for the use of schools and travellers.—12. Ed. improved. 12°. cloth 2 s. 6 d.

The experiment in the first part to teach grammar by examples has excellently been performed. A splendid help for repeating and practising grammatical difficulties is found in this part of the book. The author has extremely well succeeded in selecting the matter as well as the examples. The conversations, the model-phrases, in short everything in the book is well selected and suitably applied. The translations in the three languages are idiomatical and correct throughout. It will be impossible to use the book without profiting by it. (Pedagogical Monthly Review.)

The Bookman

"STILL MOVING UP"

DECEMBER again was the most successful month, financially, in the history of THE BOOKMAN.

The December number contained 30 per cent. more advertising than was ever published in any previous number of the magazine, while the subscriptions received were 31 per cent. greater than in December, 1899, and the circulation was 60 per cent. greater.

This is the more noteworthy, as the competition in the field of literary monthlies has been increased. THE BOOKMAN is to-day more firmly established, and more successful in every way, than ever before.

The circulation for the past few months has averaged 38,000 copies.

Everything will be done during 1901 to keep THE BOOKMAN the strongest of the literary periodicals.
